Holdings: Practical neural network recipes in C++

I trained a neural network on over 30,000 examples of cookbook recipes, and it learned to produce new recipes of its own. You can learn more about the training process, and watch it learn to generate new recipes here. They aren't good recipes, though. In fact, almost all of them are terrible.

A Recipe for Training Neural Networks. Apr 25, 2019. Some few weeks ago I posted a tweet on "the most common neural net mistakes", listing a few common gotchas related to training neural nets. The tweet got quite a bit more engagement than I anticipated (including a webinar:)).Clearly, a lot of people have personally encountered the large gap between "here is how a convolutional layer ...
